Bigger & Better Than Ever: Rain or Shine

Old Fashioned Fourth of July

Antique Car Parade

The Parade, with over 40 antique cars & special floats, will leave the Masonic Home grounds at 11:00 A.M. & proceed down Frankfort Ave. to Peterson Ave., & then to the grounds of the Peterson-Dumesnil House. The cars & floats will be announced by WAVE-TV's Ryan Halloran. This year's Parade honors our Desert Storm Armed Forces. Our Grand Marshal will be Crescent Hill native and Desert Storm Veteran, Army Sgt. Thomas P. Leonard, III. In addition, there will be a float sponsored by Just Creations depicting costumes from 15 foreign countries!

St. Joseph Raffle

The drawing for over $2000 in prizes in this raffle sponsored by the Frankfort Avenue Business Association for the benefit of St. Joseph's will be held before the fireworks. Tickets are available at several Frankfort Ave. businesses and will be sold at the Fourth. Prizes are on display at Mary Lou Duke's.

See a Movie!

Enjoy three films provided by the Louisville Historical League in the air-conditioned comfort of the Peterson-Dumesnil House. From noon until 6:00 P.M., we will show movies on Fountaine Ferry, the 1937 Flood, & Crescent Hill.

Skateboard Exhibition

See top local skateboarders do their thing on portable ramps at 12:30 P.M. You'll be dazzled by rail slides & other stunts. Thanks to Crescent Hill's "The Skate Station" for this exhibition and Jeremy Winkie for a great idea.

Antique Car Historical Tours

Spend part of your afternoon taking a tour of historic sites in Crescent Hill in an antique automobile.

Arts and Crafts Fair

The 1991 Fourth of July Arts and Crafts Fair will be bigger and better than in 1990. As of June 1, we have 36 exhibitors and we anticipate as many as 20 more. We will again have great diversity with 20 different types of exhibits already registered. You will be able to purchase weavings, many types of jewelry, wood products, pottery, watercolors, clothing, baskets, photographs, calligraphy, quilts and assorted children's items.

Ken Guillaume, a watercolor artist from Crescent Hill, deserves our special thanks for spreading the word at other art fairs saying Crescent Hill's Fourth of July is a great place to sell. So, please come anytime from 11 A.M. to 8 P.M., bring your friends and family, and most of all bring your money; you'll find gifts galore, art for your home, and many delightful surprises.

Lots of Other Activities

The Cake Wheel (still a nickel!) will be back, along with other games. Toys & Crescent Hill T-Shirts, sweatshirts & mugs will be available. Food & drinks will be available, along with a lot of picnic tables.

Lots of Information

Several Crescent Hill institutions will have information booths. You can register to vote, get a library card, & join the Community Council. Humana will also sponsor drawings for Kroger gift certificates.

Children's Activities

Free games organized by the Park's Department, along with miniature golf, face painting, free balloons, & other activities will make the Fourth an enjoyable day for kids of all ages.
